Members' Tour Day 2018

Sat October 20, 9:30am - 12:00pm

Location: Hunnewell Building

Celebrate the change of seasons by exploring the Arboretum's landscape with our staff experts. Members' Tour Day is an annual, members-only event that will guide you off the beaten path to delve deeper into the wonders of our living collections. Join us at 9:30am on Saturday, October 20 for morning coffee and autumnal treats at the Hunnewell Building before setting off on the theme tour of your choice at 11am. Dress for the weather, wear comfortable walking shoes, and bring a water bottle. For the comfort of our tour guides and participants, we request that you leave pets at home for this event.

Register and select the tour of your choice. Some of our tour leaders have been in the field on plant collecting expeditions and their tour information will be posted shortly. Email membership@arnarb.harvard.edu or call 617.384.5766 with any questions. Note that space is limited for each tour. Street parking is available along the Arnold Way; public transportation via MBTA Orange Line to Forest Hills Station.

Tour A: Centenarian Stories
Jonathan Damry, Associate Editor, Arnold Arboretum
Location: Hunnewell Building to Hickory Collection

While not always the tallest and not always the grandest, centenarian plants at the Arboretum reveal a long trajectory of local and global collaboration. The tour will begin near the Hunnewell Building, focusing on plants received from partners in Boston and Brookline in the 1970s and 1980s, and will then expand outward to explore how the Arboretum became a leading institution for national and international research on woody plants.

Tour B: TBA
Terry Huang, Living Collections Fellow
Location: TBA
TBA

Tour C: Enter the Wilderness
Irina Kadia, Curatorial Assistant
Location: Central Woods (via shuttle from the Hunnewell Building)

Pay a visit to the Central Woods—one of three natural woodlands preserved in the Arboretum landscape that harbor natural plant communities. Learn to recognize plants you often meet during hikes in the woods, and learn some fascinating aspects of their natural histories.

Tour D: Zochory
Brendan Keegan, Gardner
Location: Hunnewell Building to Hickory Collection
Zochory, the distribution of seeds by animals, is the primary mechanism of seed dispersal by trees worldwide. Some examples of zochory, such as squirrels caching acorns and accidentally spreading oaks, are readily observable; others, such as the role extinct megafauna may have played in spreading nage orange, are unfortunately less so. Join Arboretum Gardner Brendan Keegan as he discusses zochory and plant-animal relationships among the trees in our collection. The tour will start at the Hunnewell Building and end in Hickory Collection.

Tour E: TBA
Kyle Port, Manager of Plant Records
Location: TBA
TBA

Tour F: How do Trees Plan for Winter, and Beyond?
Kristel Schoonderwoerd, PhD Candidate
Location:TBA
While brilliant autumnal colors and leaf abscission signal the end of a growing season, fall is also an excellent time to observe the very beginning of next spring's leaf growth. As summer comes to an end, miniature leaves are carefully packaged in winter buds on temperate trees, ready for expansion after winter dormancy. Take a closer look at the great diversity of winter buds on display in the Arnold Arboretum with Kristel Schoonderwoerd and learn how trees prepare for winter, and ultimately spring.
